Situation Report

Remembrance Day

September 11, 2002

Due to credible and corroborated threats to United States assets overseas, President George W. Bush and his cabinet advisors raised the Homeland Security Advisory System from Elevated (Yellow -Significant Risk of Terrorist Attacks) to High (Orange – High Risk of Terrorist Attacks). Governor Bob Holden and Tim Daniel, Special Advisor for Missouri Homeland Security concurred with this assessment. There are no specific credible and corroborated threats domestically. Top security officials in Missouri have directed that the following actions be taken by State agencies:

The State Emergency Management Agency has elevated to a Level 1 Activation for 24 hour operations.

Department of Health and Senior Services, Disaster Situation Room (DSR) will be operational on a 24-hour basis.

All county emergency management directors have been formally notified of the increase in threat level by the State Emergency Management Agency.

County/City Reports:

St. Louis

St. Louis County Office of Emergency Management EOC has been activated for 24 hour operations.

City Emergency Management Agency (St. Louis City) has been activated for 24 hour operations.

Kansas City

Kansas City has increased security and has asked key city agencies to review contingency plans to enhance response efforts in case of an incident.
